Making Our MARK

St. Mark Center's Shuryce “Niqui” Hill
The Epitome of Excellence in Early Education

Infant/Toddler teacher Shuryce “Niqui” Hill is the type of Pre-K teacher parents hope for, and the early educator who every child deserves. Each day, she helps her students at St. Mark Center find their voices, and listens to what they have to say.

“Children have a vital voice and they are active contributors to their learning process,” Hill said. “When teachers take the time to truly listen to our students, we model what good communication looks like and help increase their social and emotional development.”

In April, Hill was named the recipient of the 2019 Excellence in Early Care and Education Award. The accolade is given by The Family Conservancy to honor one early education provider in the Kansas City metro area who is changing the lives of their students. She was nominated by Crystal Everett, a parent whose one-year-old daughter is taught in her classroom.

“Ms. Hill is the epitome of a great educator,” Everett said. “She is always looking for ways to support the educational development of her students by adapting lessons that meet the babies where they are in their development, while at the same time, gradually stretching them to learn something new.”

Seeing her students make new connections is one of Hill’s favorite things about teaching infants. This 20-year teaching veteran knows that it hasn’t always been easy to pursue a career in education.

“I worked for many early education programs where children were seen, but not heard.”

Passionate. Patient. Persistent.
These qualities and 20 years of dedication to quality early learning have earned St. Mark Center Infant/Toddler teacher Shuryce “Niqui” Hill The Family Conservancy’s 2019 Excellence in Early Care and Education Award.

When I advocated for this to change, I was redirected or written up,” Hill said.

Hill saw that her strategies helped students to learn and to grow, and continued advocating for change. Rather than be discouraged, she earnestly sought programs that aligned with her teaching methods.

“UICS and St. Mark Center supported my approach of listening to students, celebrating successes, and giving grace to grow. I found what I was looking for,” Hill said.

Hill has taught at St. Mark Center since 2016. When she found out that she received the award, she said she was humbled, grateful, and validated.

“All of my write-ups were worth it,” Hill said. “This award validates the voices of my students and highlights the progress that can be made when we strive to do better for our students.”
Dear Friends,

Watching our 4- and 5-year-old students in cap and gown cross the graduation stage - well, it might just be one of the most gratifying sights ever! This special ceremony hosted May 23rd at the historic Gem Theater is a significant milestone in a lifetime of learning. It's a sign of success that our students' developmental growth aligns with innumerable studies demonstrating that children with access to quality early learning are more prepared for kindergarten.

As you review our 2018 Annual Report in this issue, you will see proof of our hope-filled mission in action, as our newest graduates enter kindergarten with expanded vocabulary; better language, math, and social skills; more positive relationships with classmates; and higher scores on school-readiness assessments.

As they go forward in school and in life, they are less likely to need special education services or be held back a grade, and are more likely to graduate and go on to college.

Our faculty and staff are forever grateful for the gift of these children and the promise and potential their education inspires in their lives, their families, and our community.

Your support ensures the benefits of their UICS/St. Mark Center education remain long after their tassels are turned!

With gratitude,

Deidre Anderson, Chief Executive Officer
UICS/St. Mark Center

Early Education = Community Benefit

If children start school ready to learn, they are more likely to read at grade level by 3rd grade. Remedial costs go down, potential lifelong gaps could be eliminated, and our entire school system would be more effective in positioning students for academic and life success.

WAYS TO HELP

As we begin the 2019-2020 school year, we may have some students who do not have the basic necessities for a focused learning experience.

Shoes and clothing contribute to positive self-esteem and help set our students up for success in the classroom!

We currently need new clothing sizes 3T, 4T, and 5T for our Pre-K students, and new athletic shoes in children’s sizes 10, 11, and 12.

Please drop off your donations at UICS/St. Mark Center, 2008 East 12th Street, KC, MO 64127.

Thank you!
